Glenbard East music chairman “Outstanding Music Educator”

Glenbard East High School’s music program has a national reputation for excellence, and now its music department chairman, Joanne May, has been honored for her excellence in music education.

May has earned the Chicagoland Outstanding Music Educator Award. This award, presented by May’s colleagues in the Chicago metropolitan area, recognizes May’s excellence in music education and her steadfast commitment to students.

Quinlan & Fabish Music Co. sponsors the Chicagoland Outstanding Music Educator Awards, which were established in 1989 as a tribute to professional music educators from the Chicago area.

A selection committee that includes previous winners and prominent Chicago area college band directors determines the winners.
