Professionals honor Glenbard North student journalists

Congratulations to Glenbard North High School student Erika Strebel for placing first in the Chicago Headline Club / Columbia High School Newspaper Contest for her news story "District contemplates referendum run" in the November issue.

Congratulations also to the North Current editors and staff, who were awarded honorable mention for overall student paper with the December issue.

The Chicago Headline Club chapter of the Society of Professional Journalists recognizes writing and reporting from Chicago area students.

High school newspaper advisers nominated work from their top students in 2006.

Professional journalists served as volunteer judges to choose from hundreds of submissions published throughout the school year in news, features, opinion, sports, photography, artwork and in-depth reporting categories.

The contest is the largest such awards program in Illinois and one of the largest regional honors in the country.
