Chicago Headline Club honors Glenbard North student newspaper

The Chicago Headline Club has recognized Glenbard North High School's student newspaper staff for outstanding work on its issues of The North Current from September through December 2004.

Beeraj Patel took 1st place for in-depth reporting, Katie Drews took 3rd place in photography, and Erika Strebel took 6th place in news. Honorable mention was awarded for the overall student newspaper.

The prestigious Chicago Headline Club is a chapter of the Society of Professional Journalists, consisting of Chicago area news executives, editors, reporters, and photographers.

Glenbard North Principal Prentiss Lea congratulated The North Current student staff, head adviser Jaime Hajek and assistant advisers George Felt and David Stanfield for receiving this recognition.
