Glenbard students heading to Peoria for wheelchair basketball

March Madness hits Peoria with two of Glenbard's very own, Glenbard South High School freshman Andrew Kuebel and Glenbard North High School senior Danielle Austin, competing this weekend downstate.

Wheelchair basketball, now an IHSA sanctioned sport, will have the hometown representation with the suburban team from Chicago called the Windy City Warriors.

The team is comprised of physically disabled athletes whose disabilities range from incomplete spinal cord formation, spina bifida, cerebral palsy and amputation to degenerative nerve conditions.

The players also include seniors from Aurora and Argo High School; three juniors from Wheaton Warrenville South High School, Wheaton North High School, and Lake Zurich; sophomores from Homewood and Lyons Township High School; and three middle-school students from Minooka, Wheaton and Carol Stream.

The team is coached by Len Ciarletti and assisted by Curtis Lease and Jim Wehling.

In addition to the Warriors, a pool of teams from Chicago, East St. Louis, Peoria and Rockford will compete at the Peoria Civic Center on Friday and Saturday, March 10 and 11, with games starting at 10 a.m. through 4 p.m.
