Glenbard North: Middle School Enrichment offerings

Big Changes, Big Choices

What we believe about ourselves is usually reflected in our self-esteem. Positive beliefs make us feel good about ourselves, raise our self-esteem and lead us to making better decisions. In this course, students will participate in personal inventories, group discussions, and question the role the media plays in how they see the world. Teens will explore the concept of self-esteem, analyze their strengths and weaknesses and consider the role self-esteem plays in a healthy life. There will also be a concentration on academic strategies that will help them stay organized and successful.
